Automatic transmission fluid

Mazda designed and built the SKYACTIV automatic transmission in-house rather than using one of the existing transmission specialists. Their aim was to combine the benefits of dual-clutch and conventional ‘torque-converter’ automatic transmissions with enhanced fuel economy, less noise, vibration and harshness (NVH) and smoother shifting between gears.

febi have produced this automatic transmission oil using the highest quality base oils and additives to replicate Mazda’s ATF FZ even down to the colour of the fluid (blue).

177652 automatic transmission fluid is ideal for use in conjunction with febi transmission filter set 107828. This is a ‘sealed-for-life’ transmission, but in order to increase the longevity of the transmission even further, we advise changing the automatic transmission oil and filter every 80,000 to 112,000 kilometres (50,000 to 70,000 miles) depending on the conditions the vehicle is driven in.
